To the Probate Registrar

I once again request you forward to me a certified copy of the probate documents as you legally obliged to do so, as documented in section 30 of the Administration and Probate Act 1919. You have stated that it is at your 'discretion' not to do so, and therefore I can only assume that it is related to some fraudulent, incorrect information that you have received from Guardianship board.

Please read the attached statement to police submitted last year 2005 describing in detail the fraudulent activities of the Executor and her husband. You will see that the information you have been given by the Guardianship Board/Public Trustee are merely fraudulent activities of the perpetrators. The Guardianship Board and Public Trustee had never conducted any investigations, they happily accepted whatever fraudulent statements were given to them without question. The section that might interest you is that headed 'Fraudulent deception of Guardianship Board and Public Trustee in 2004 by'.

In acknowledging the contents of the documents obtained from the Guardianship Board as being correct, you are deliberately denying me my inheritance as sole beneficiary as expressed in my mother's Will.

You have told me that instead you think the Greek succession laws should apply, and in doing so you have unwittingly aided and abetted a fraudulent Executor and crown solicitor officer intent on undermining my mother's Will.

The Executor has no intention of forwarding any Will to Greece, and you seem, in my conversation with you, to support this.

I have no doubt you are prejudiced due to some report you have seen which was proved completely fraudulent but apparently not shredded or corrected, even though it was stated to me that the report would be corrected.

Behind all of this I believe is the unwavering prejudice of a crown solicitor officer who apparently resented my mother's will. The crown solicitor officer befriended the Executor in 2004 and proactively assured them (in writing) that she would block my becoming my mother's administrator and that she would ensure that there were funds set aside for a Will challenge.

The police were poised to investigate the fraudulent activities of the Executor and her husband but were advised/instructed by the same crown solicitor officer not to proceed with it.

My mother passed away a few months later and the Executor's daughter also passed away. As a result I turned a blind eye and put behind me all the crookedness my mother and I had been subjected to, believing the perpetrators could never get past the Probate office and the Inheritances Act.

Well the crooks have managed to do both - get past you and also avoid dealing with the Inheritances Act.

This email will be broadcast to your Minister and other affected ministers, the Premier and the media next week by my Power of Attorney.

This email has been examined and verified by my Power of Attorney Maureen Halse.
