Dear Sir

I am a beneficiary of my great grandmother's will who passed away 7 March 2006.

I believe that money was taken from my protected inheritance to fund the fraudulent activities by the executors and Stan Itsines.

I was never made aware of any summons or any court action. I only found out about this recently in early July, 2008.

I was never contacted by the executors, their lawyer or any other person.

I thought my inheritance was safely protected. I am told accessing my inheritance (when i was a minor) is an offence under the Legal Practitioners Conduct Act.

My grandfather has given me a stake in an overseas Greek property in Rhodes, which I believe was at the centre of the fraudulent activities by Anna, Gary and Stan.

Therefore I request that action be taken recover any losses of overseas properties, as I for one stand to lose in the long and short terms from any losses my grandfather suffers.

Please send me my full inheritance promptly, or an advance of $5,000 deposited to my bank account to help me with my goals in life because I am living independently and have to manage on my own. I have plans to study from next year, Real Estate, which will cost me around $1,200 not including equipment and text book expenses. Which will make a total of $2,000, and will require another 3 year course of $2,000 a year.

Yours Sincerely,

Shamona Stilianos
